“ I am sorry I wasn't there when you started your journey over. I am sorry I can't be there now. I know you would understand so I am trying to hold no guilt. I see happiness in the fact that you can now be with all of us and you are now free from sickness. I hear that it's beautiful over there, I wish you could tell us about it but I am happy that finally after all these years you have found peace. Don't worry about us we will be fine, it might take a while but things have a way of working out. I will miss you, and I love you -Shelly
