“ I am still shocked and sad that Sissy has gone home to be with the Lord. I will miss her laughing and smiling no matter how bad she felt. Her little nose moving every time she said a word. She can always make me feel better. But now my good friend, you are with the mightiest of them all. You feel so much better in health and I'm sure happier than you could ever be. We will miss you very much. Just remember family, memories never fade, as they live with us forever. We do have some good memories of her don't we..... She is one of a kind, big hearted, wonderful person. But God needed a flower in heaven. We must not cry for God has started her on a new path in heaven. She is having a joyous time without us. We are the ones that should be jealous. We have an angel in heaven today!
