“ I have very few memories in my life that Carole isn't a part of. I've never taken a breath without her being in my life. She was my oldest sister and my friend, she could inferiorate me, make me laugh or just be there when I needed her. The Bible says to weep when they're born because their troubles have just begun, and to rejoice when they die because they have fought a good fight and kept the faith and the trials are over. I know that even though there's a hole in my heart, ..there's a celebration in heaven. I'll see you soon Carole Jean.. and you will be by the River of Life waiting on me. I love you forever
