“ Deb I know it's hard being you right now but I pray God will give you the strength you need to get through the days ahead. Danny and I love you very much and prayers will not cease when this is over because I know then is when it gets hard...God bless you and Jerre Wayne for being not only the daughter and son-in-law, but careing enough to have them live with you and became their caregiver. They spent their last days with the love and care of two very special people. I love you both...Danny and Rhonda
