“ I was so saddened to hear of Daniel's passing. I had never met him in person, but we shared a passion for hunting, and were both members of a hunting community website where we shared stories of good times had with our families in the outdoors. The pictures and stories he shared with us all showed the deep love he had for his family. Our community will miss his presence, and his contributions of being part of our online family. I offer my most heartfelt condolences to his family, and my prayers for comfort and healing from our Almighty God.
