“ Every single time I saw Deya we talked about her little sister Jackie. ALL she cared about was her happiness. I marveled at how a 21 year old woman could be so selfless to give her whole heart to care for her little sister and little brother. She would tell you that she loved them as if they were her own children - and she was not exaggerating! She cared about her having the clothes she needed to fit in, the makeup and hair and nails for special occasions, swimsuits for the summer, how she was doing at school with grades and with friendships - she laid awake at night worrying about them as if she was their mama. Just a beautiful soul.
