“Richard and I knew each other from having worked together at more than one steel fabrication shops, and he was one of the best fabricators I've ever known. He was highly intelligent and had a sharp, dry wit. Even years after we went out separate ways in the work environment, we stayed in touch, usually texting each other some kind of silly jokes.

His friendship meant a lot to me, and I will miss him.

My condolences to his loved ones.
